

Ravne Discovery – my Visit to the amazing Bosnian Visoko Pyramid and Tunnel Complex

By Alanna Moore, September 2018.

In August 2018 I finally got the chance to spend a few days in the valley of pyramids in Bosnia Herzegovina. What an amazing experience it was! Readers will remember in the last issue of Geomantica the article about the Ravne Tunnels by Martin Richter, the geomancer from Bavaria. Having now been there myself, I can definitely concur with Martin's impressions of these enigmatic structures.

Visoko itself is a charming old town nestled in a permaculture paradise with fruit filled trees and vegetable and raspberry plots everywhere. My accommodation was on the edge of town, on the banks of a wild river. When the (live) call to prayer rang out from the town's minarets (locals are 90% Muslim) – it mingled with the sound of rushing water and sounded like a magical blessing on all. Around the fertile valley the awesome spectre of several huge pyramids cloaked in scrubby oak forests loomed enigmatically, harbouring fabulous secrets and known to be geometrically aligned to the Earth, cosmos and each other. Here the Sky connects with the Earth in spectacular ways!

Photo – The Pyramid of the Sun, behind Visoko town

Photo – Pyramid shaped hills abound, waiting for investigation

In the geology below the Pyramid of the Sun there is a layer of iron, plus underground streams. Beneath the soil and vegetation on the surface, a layer of concrete casing revealed itself to investigators. This facing material has been scientifically tested and proven to be artificially made and far stronger than normal concrete.

Photo – Concrete slabs on the side of the Pyramid of the Sun, right (M Richter).

Photo – Pavement uncovered on the flat top of the Pyramid of the Moon, left.

Trekking around some of five known pyramids and associated tunnels of nearby Ravne, I got the impression (as have others) that other-worldly beings were involved in the creation of these huge structures in the ancient past, perhaps around 30,000 years ago, according to scientific dating (humans have lived in the region for around 35,000 years). I also sensed the ongoing presence of alien and Earthly spirit beings that are currently resident there. The other-dimensional beings may have used, or still use, the labyrinth of tunnels for healing, breeding and acclimatising. Tunnels were afterwards filled with loose sand and dry stone walls some 5000 years ago and closed up until Dr Sam Osmanagich re-discovered them in 2005.

Some of the tunnels were found to be full of water, a specially pure water. I picked up memories of fish tailed beings bathing (or incubating?) in those waters (although one cannot always be sure of one's clairvoyant impressions as spirit beings can pluck images from one's mind to use as a clothing so that you can recognise them in particular ways; they may look different to other observers). Fish tailed beings have been mythically connected with the Sirius star system (and well described in Robert Temple's book:).

Photo Dr Sam's Archeological Park: Bosnian Pyramid of the Sun Foundation is promoting the area to tourists of all kinds!

Slovenian geomancer Marko Pogacnik has created a forest of modern megaliths carved with his distinctive geo-glyphs, for the parkland beside the Ravne tunnels.

I am no stranger to alien presences and I've had experiences of them that were also connected to special energy places. I have sensed their presence when dowsing professionally in the Central Highlands district of Victoria, Australia. High energy in those locations is due to volcanic activity of less than 10,000 years ago and the presence of mineral springs and radioactivity etc.

On one property I dowsed, the mineral water was under such high pressure that it made taps burst and several companies had been wanting to bottle and sell the water, though the owner had no interest in that. The beings I encountered there were not posing a threat to human inhabitants, but their presence had been felt. The owner had been aware of them for over 11 years, all the time he had been there. When I was told about them and tuned my vision to their more unusual frequencies, I clairvoyantly saw them there, discreetly going about their business. I got the impression that the aliens were there to 'mine' the Earth energies, i.e. – using them for their own purposes. Perhaps they had established some kind of colony there.

The Visoko valley could also have been an ancient colony of beings from Pleiadies (or was it Sirius?). Perhaps they too have been 'mining' the special energies there. And building the huge pyramids and labyrinth of tunnels as energy generators and amplifiers, as others think. Dr Sam, whose PhD research was on Mayan studies, notes the many similarities of pyramid sites around the world in his books. For example, the frequent numerical associations at Mayan sites with the Pleiadian star system; with the number 52 being both the number of years in a Mayan calendar cycle and the length of the Pleiadian cycle.

Invigorating tunnel atmosphere

The atmosphere in the Ravne tunnels appears to have been engineered for a high oxygen and negative ion content, and who knows what else? Human beings become totally invigorating from exposure to it and perhaps other beings also benefit from air bathing there. After just two visits to the tunnels my energy field (aura) felt super cleansed and energised like never before!

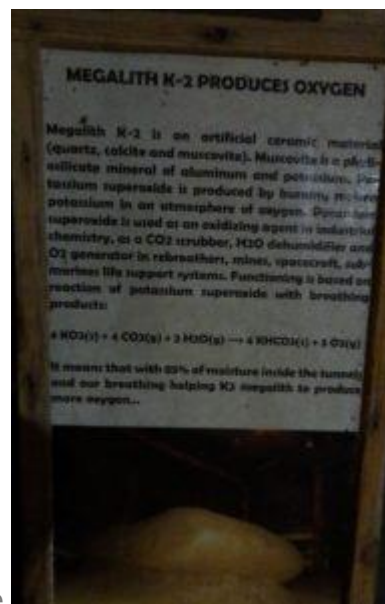

Photo – A sign at one of the ceramic megaliths of Ravne.

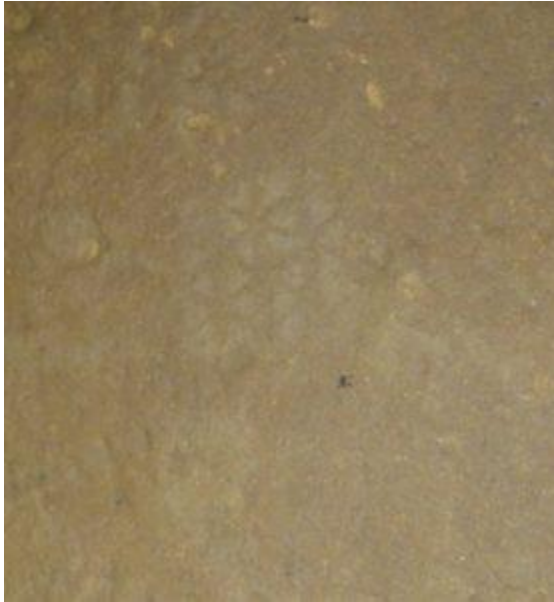

Many people coming to spend time in the Ravne tunnels have experienced healing. Perhaps this is an echo of its past use. As Dr Sam puts it in one of his books ('Pyramids around the World and Lost Pyramids of Bosnia', Sajevo, 2014) in relation to a high energy Mayan site (Paphol Chac, a temple to the rain god, in Yucatan) – "thousands of pilgrims...over the period of several thousand years, formed the psychological field energetically focused on the healing of various diseases by visiting this place. The combination of Earth and human energy created an area that has a healing effect on the human body." Add to that the energy of alien beings and technologies, and hey presto! – the Visoko valley is a super magical place!

Amazing discovery!

A most wonderful discovery was made when Martin Richter, who showed me around the tunnels, was studying by torchlight the side of one of the special ceramic megaliths there. He found a six pointed star image, where there had already been much technical probing. Looking closer, I saw that this star is connected to other stars, just like the Star of Life pattern, where they all fit into a circle. But it is fragmentary and perhaps the pattern may have been more extensive in the past. It appears to be of great age, is very faint and partly marked by a thin white patina on the surface. Perhaps it had been mostly scrubbed off. How it had been etched in I could not say, as it was not like Australian Aboriginal petroglyphs that I would be familiar with, nor was it like the carved symbols and primitive runic writings found elsewhere on tunnel stones. So difficult to see, it had an other-worldly quality to it. (I won't say the exact location of it here, as too many greasy fingers of visitors might make the pattern disappear.)

Photos – Newly discovered star pattern found on a ceramic megalith inside the Ravne tunnels.

Because many people have clairvoyantly connected with Sirius and other star systems here, this star pattern comes as a powerful confirmation of the other-worldly nature of this place.

But don't take my word for it. Go and see and feel these places out for yourself.

I'm glad that I did and I'm sure you will be as amazed and impressed as I was if you do!